PLAN BIG FAIR FOR LABOR DAY

Midway to be Feature of Outing of Firemen at Little Round Top.

ATTRACTIONS APLENTY

Dancing Pavilion And Basement Of Rosensteel Property Leased For September 3 by Committee.

Arrangements for the fair to be held at Little Round Top in connection with the second annual picnic of the Adams County Firemen's Association on Monday, September 3, were completed by the committee in charge Monday evening.

Last year at the first get-together meeting of the fire companies in Adams county, at McSherrystown, a crowd estimated at 8,000 persons was present and arrangements are being made for more than that number on Labor Day this year.

The annual business meeting of the Adams County Firemen's Association will be held during the forenoon on Labor Day at the Photoplay Theatre, beginning at 9:30 o'clock. Following this session, a parade in which every organized fire company in the county is expected to take part, accompanied by eight to ten bands, will be staged.

At the conclusion of the parade, the firemen will go to Little Round Top for the outing and to participate in thefair to be in progress there. Last year, the firemen, after their meeting in McSherrystown, iourneyed to Witmer's Woods, several miles west of McSherrystown, for their outing.

The committee in charge of the fair met on the grounds at Little Round Top Monday evening and decided to lay out a midway 100 feet long in the woods across from the Rosensteel pavilion. This concourse will be resplendent in the usual attractions offered by a fair's midway. There will be ten-pin stands, "Hit-the-Coon" stands, and knife and cane stands, together with blanket and Kewpie doll wheels. Refresh-

COUNTY CLAIMS FRUIT HONORS

Leads Others in Estimated Crop of Apples and is Second in Peaches.

Leading the sixty-seven counties in Pennsylvania in the number of bushels of apples estimated for this year's crop and second in the State in the estimated yield of peaches this fall, Adams county can rightfully claim the title of Pennsylvania's leading fruit-growing county.

One week ago, the State Department of Agriculture from reports submitted by thirteen apple growers in Adams county estimated the yield of commercial varieties at 233,818 bushels. However, not all of the largest horticulturists were included in this survey and latest figures issued today by the Agricultural Department's Statistical Bureau place Adams county's commercial apple crop at 864,071 bushels, surpassing by more than 100,000 bushels the estimated yield of Franklin county.

With an estimated yield of 11,328,750 bushels of apples for the entire State, Adam county's crop is almost one-tenth of the total estimated production. Franklin county's estimated crop is 745,630 bushels and is the second largest in the State. Estimated crops in other leading counties are: Luzerne, 482.008 bushels; Bedford, 463,114, and York county, 438,490.

The total or agricultural crop of apples, according to August 1 estimates, will approximate 69 per cent of a full crop in Pennsylvania this fall, says the Department of Agriculture. The total crop last year was estimated at 10,837,940 bushels, as compared with 11,328,750 bushels this year and the average of 8,642,600 bushels for the past four years.

In the estimated total production of peaches, Adams county must yield first place to her neighboring county on the west, Franklin, according to the latest figures of the State Department of Agriculture. The estimated crop of peaches in Franklin is 126,196 bushels, surpassing the estimated yield for Adams county by nearly 8,000 bushels, this county's total being 118,421 bushels.

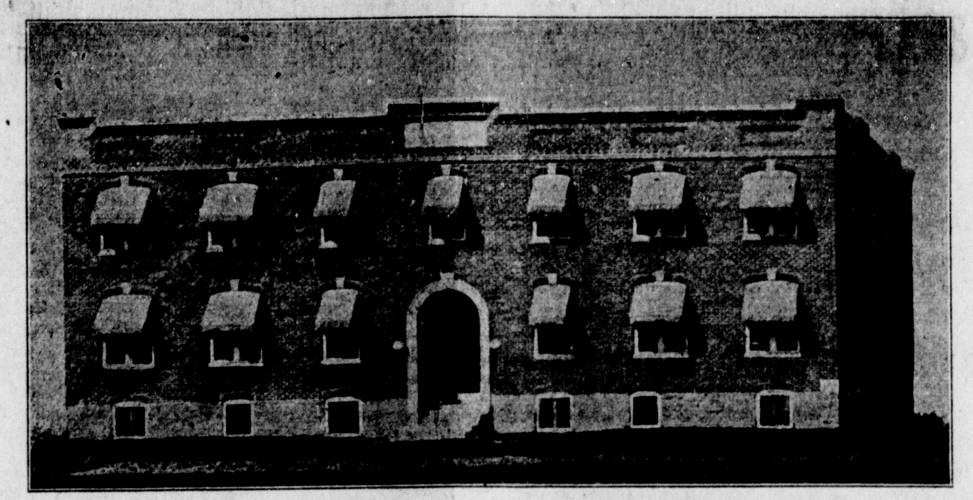
THE ANNIE M. WARNER HOSPITAL IN GETTYSBURG



The $30,000 campaign now under way here proposes to add a Nurses' Home to the Hospital, shown above, in order to provide additional room in the institution which is frequently crowded with patients.

Campaign Heads in Drive For $30,000 Nurses' Home Here Are Enthusiastic Over First Day

Belief is Expressed That Total For Opening Day of Drive May Reach $8,000; Subscriptions Ranging from $1 to $500 Are Received, With Returns Not Completed.

With returns from the opening day's drive for $30,000 for a nurses' home and betterments at the Annie M. Warner County Hospital coming in steadily, tabulation of the totals solicited by each of the twenty-two teams in Gettysburg and Adams county was not yet completed at noon today.

Those in charge of the campaign, the intensive part of which opened Monday, were optimistic today, and expressed the belief that the grand total subscribed on that day would reach in the neighborhood of $8,000. The campaign will be continued until August 27.

Subscriptions on the opening day ranged from $1 to $500, three of the latter amount being received. Most of the first day's solicitations came from men, women, business places and industries in Gettysburg, although there were substantial reports from several parts of the county. One subscription for $100 came from a physician residing in Pittsburgh.

Among the other substantial subscriptions received on Monday were those of the Gettysburg and Reaser Furniture Companies, First National Bank, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, G. F. Mitchell, Dr. G. D. Stahley, Gettysburg Times, C. E. Tawney, H. T. Weaver and John D. Keith.

An animated meeting of workers was held in New Oxford Monday evening, at which C. M. Hogarth, one of the technical experts in charge of the present campaign, spoke. The workers pledged their hearty cooperation with the drive, and everyone present accepted the invitation to come to Gettysburg this evening to attend the dinner and rally arranged for all workers in Gettysburg and Adams county at the Battlefield Hotel.

Another interesting meeting was held at Biglerville, addressed by Davis White, who outlined the campaign in detail.

On Wednesday afternoon, volunteer workers will accompany the rural mail carriers on the ten routes from the Gettysburg Post Office to solicit subscriptions from the residents along the various routes. The rural carriers will take the workers on a special trip arranged to start at 1:30 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon. Robert C. Miller, postmaster, cooperating with the campaign officials, arranged for this service.

Each of the twelve teams organized for the drive in twelve towns and communities in the county has been given a number as follows:

No. 1, Arendtsville; No. 2, Biglerville; No. 3, New Oxford; No. 4, Cashtown; No. 5, Guernsey; No. 6, Fairfield; No. 7, York Springs; No. 8, Bendersville; No. 9, Littlestown; No. 10, McSherrystown; No. 11, Abbottstown, and No. 12, Orrtanna. Each of these teams has been given a section on the large bulletin board on Center Square here on which the total subscriptions each team raises each day will be listed.

REV. DR. HANSON WILL COME HERE

Expects To Take Up Duties On Campus Next Tuesday; Will Commute.

Rev. Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, the new president of Gettysburg College, will come to Gettysburg from Harrisburg next Tuesday, August 28, to take up his duties here and will bring his family here as soon as the residence on the campus is ready for occupancy, he told a Gettysburg Times reporter in Harrisburg Monday.

Improvements are being made to the president's residence at the college and until they are completed, Doctor Hanson will continue to reside in the Messiah Lutheran Church parsonage at Harrisburg and drive to and from Gettysburg every day. He has been pastor of Messiah church the last eleven years and will conclude his work there next Sunday. His successor has not yet been elected.

One of the first problems which the new president faces is to provide the necessary facilities at college to care for the largest number of students in the history of the institution. Many have had to be turned away this year, it is said by college authorities, because of the lack of room to take care of them.

College will open September 19 and the formal installation of the new president will take place the same week, with detailed arrangements being made by a special committee headed by Dr. Charles H. Huber, of the faculty.

In reply to an invitation from The Times for a public statement covering his plans and visions for Gettysburg College, Doctor Hanson said it would be difficult to give such a statement at this time.

"It will, of course, be my ambition to make Gettysburg stand out as one of the very strongest colleges in Presidents of County Branches, Forming Central Auxiliary, Meet Monday Night.

At a meeting of the Central Auxiliary of the Annie M. Warner Hospital, held Monday night at that institution, and called by Mrs. W. C. Tyson, Guernsey, president of the combined county auxiliaries, each of the twelve branch organizations was represented, including the York Springs Auxiliary recently formed with Miss Edna Albert as president.

Growing enthusiasm was evidenced at the meeting, representatives of each auxiliary reporting revived interest among their members both for the hospital in general, and for the drive now on for a new Nurses' Home at the institution.

LABOR IS STILL SHORT IN STATE

Industries in Pennsylvania Continue Activity in Most Lines.

A comprehensive survey of industrial conditions in this State, just made public by the United States Department of Labor, shows a slight lessening of labor shortage in some industries, which has done little, however, to reduce the unsatisfied demand for farm labor in most sections.

The labor shortage continues in many industrial activities with a consequent shortage in those branches. The report, in part, follows:

"Pennsylvania— Midsummer period of dullness in the steel industry has lessened the severity of the labor shortage in many mills, and has eased employment conditions in other lines. Farm labor is in considerable demand throughout the state. The fruit crop in the northwestern section has caused an increase demand for pickers and laborers. Cambria county is suffering from a severe shortage of farm help.

Huge Volume of Building

"Huge volume of building operations going ahead in every section of the state, combined with state and county road work, continues to provide employment to all available skilled and unskilled building labor. Contracts have been let and work started on state highway repairs to cost $700,000, divided among the counties of Crawford, Clarion, Erie, Lawrence, Indiana and York.

"A bridge in Clearfield county costing $22,656 and erection of three railroad bridges in Northumberland county, totaling $2,000,000, will be started within a few weeks, and will afford employment to several hundred skilled and semiskilled workers.

"Employment in the anthracite coal fields is fairly steady, although some mines are on part-time and others temporarily closed for repairs. In the central regions, employment in the coal mines has improved. Approximately 900 anthracite miners near Wilkes-Barre returned to work after a week's suspension.

"In the western region, many bituminous mines are on part-time

MINERS FAIL TO UNITE IN PLANS

Proper Mine Pay Rates Leave Officials Widely Separated.

QUOTE WAGE INCREASES

Other Trades' Pay is Cited While Ten Other Demands of Union Are Set Aside.

(By Associated Press.)

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 21.—Today, the second of renewed wage contract negotiations in the anthracite industry, found mine operators and union officials widely separated in their ideas of proper mine pay rates. The subject opened at the first meeting yesterday was scheduled to be taken up again for discussion today while the ten other demands of the union were temporarily set aside.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, emphasized the $2 increase demand for his men as justified in view of recent increases for steel workers. building trades and textile hands. S. B. Warringer, head of the operators committee, said that the anthracite scale fixed in 1920 had not been decreased and had been generally declared adequate by the United States Coal Commission.

Pending demands of the union for a 20 per cent increase in rates per ton for mining coal were given fuller examination today. The operators declared that this would add two dollars a ton to the price of prepared sizes of coal to the consumer while the miners took the position that no additional charge should be borne by the public.

The reactionary movement was suddenly checked before midday when a great demand arose for American Can and the independent steels. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

FAKE "DEAD MAN" DRAWS PENSION

Accused Admits Fraud Against Government Covering a Period of 3 Years.

Philadelphia, Aug. 21.—Wesley B. Ashmead, Emily street, near Front, admitted Monday morning in the office of Federal Commissioner Manley that for more than three years he had been posing as a dead man and in that way had obtained pension checks from the government.

Ashmead was held in $1000 bail for court after waiving a hearing. William L. Gladenning, McClellan street, near Twenty-second; William H. Hall, Emily street, near Front, and Mrs. Jennie Black, Emily street, near Front, also were held in $1000 bail each for court in connection with the case, charged with conspiracy against the government.

For many years James Ross, a veteran of the Civil war, lived at the old soldiers' home in Hampton, Virginia. In this city in Emily street, near Front, he had a brother, William. With his brother lived Mrs. Black, a niece, and her son-in-law, Ashmead.

The brothers at the time of their death were each more than 80 years old.

James, since he lived in the old soldiers' home, decided he did not need the pension that the government had allotted him and made arrangements that each month the check should be forwarded to his brother in this city.

About January 27, 1920, according to official records, William Ross, the brother, died. However, James, not knowing that his brother was dead, continued to have the checks sent.

As the checks arrived, Ashmead, who is a clerk in a bank in this city, signed William's name to them, secret service officials charge. In all, $1168 has been collected from the government by Ashmead since William Ross died, it is slleged.

On November 15, 1922, when there was a delay in the receipt of the check, it is charged that before a notary public Ashmead signed an affidavit to establish that he was William Ross. The affidavit was witnessed and signed by the other three, who were held for court Monday.

The government by other information became suspicious, and asked Superintendent of Police Mills to investigate the case. Mills discovered that William Ross was dead. The case was then turned over to the secret service bureau here.

On June 12, 1923, James Ross, the old soldier, died in Hampton, Virginia. His relatives in this city, wondering why pension checks were discontinued, did not know he was dead until they were told so at the hearing.

1060 TEACHERS RECEIVE ANNUITY

Total of 64,138 Enrolled in Teachers' Retirement Fund.

Ten hundred and sixty of the 64,138 public school teachers who have enrolled in the Teachers' Retirement Fund, since the fund's inception four years ago, are receiving either superannuation or disability annuities. During this period $638,300 has been disbursed to these teachers, of whom more than half on the superannuated list had reached the age limit of 70 years for school teachers.

During the four years from 1919 to 1923 a total of 978 teachers have retired on superannuation, but of this number 134 have died. While a teacher may retire at the age of 62 years, Dr. H. H. Baish, secretary of the Retirement Board, pointed out that the average of those who have retired was 69½ years and that the average length of time spent in the school room was 39½ years. The annuities, which are based on the average salaries of the teacher's last ten years of service, average $405 a year.

At present there are 226 teachers drawing disability annuities, which average $324 a year. In this class of payment, the Board has distributed $102,701, but the major part of its distributions has been made to retired teachers.

There have been 13,259 withdrawals from the fund, many of which were due to the desire on the part of the teachers to take advanced college work and secure a higher grade of certificate, Doctor Baish said. A name is not dropped from the fund for five years, during which time a teacher may be reinstated by paying back premiums.

Payment into the fund is based on the same principle as life insurance premiums and is made on the basis of the age at the time a teacher became a contributor. The lowest rate paid is 3;33 per cent of the salary and the highest is 6;59 per cent.

When a teacher leaves the service a refund of the money paid, together with interest, is allowed. To date the refunds total $704,361.

The total amount paid into the fund in the past four years totals $15,045,938 of which $13,364,491 is invested in Pennsylvania school district and municipal bonds. The interest received on the bonds is used to build up a reserve fund to take care of future retirements.

For five days the country will have this aerial express mail service. After that test, Uncle Sam will decide whether daily transcontinental flights are to become mere routine and mail-plane service from Atlantic to Pacific made permanent.

Two Hours For Winds

The flying schedule aproved Monday night calls for 30 hours flying time on the westbound trip and 28 on the east-bound. The two hours' difference represents the effect the prevailing westerly winds are expected to have on an airplane at this time of year.

Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City and Reno are the points at which the mail planes will alight to refuel or shift pilot, machine and cargo.

One Stretch By Night

The only night flying will be between Chicago and Cheyenne. This piece, of course will be blazed with electric lights, with incandescent buoys and even more powerful lighthouses to guide the pilots through darkness, fog and storm.

The flying schedule announced Monday night by Postmaster Morgan in this city follows, all time being standard.

New York, 11 A. M. Eastern.
Cleveland, 4 P. M. Eastern.
Chicago, 7 P. M. Central.
Omaha, 12 M. Central.
Cheyenne, 4:30 A. M. Mountain.
Salt Lake City, 9 A. M. Mountain.
Reno, 2:15 P. M. Pacific.
Arrive San Francisco 4:15 P. M. Pacific.
Eastbound, leave—
San Francisco, 6 A. M. Pacific.
Reno, 8:15 A. M. Pacific.
Salt Lake City, 2:30 P. M. Mountain.
Cheyenne, 6:45 P. M. Mountain.
Omaha, 1 A. M. Central.
Chicago, 5:45 A. M. Central.
Cleveland, 10:30 A. M. Eastern.
Arrive New York 3:15 P. M. Eastern.

Postage Is Two Cents

Postmaster Morgan also announced that postage would be 2 cents an ounce or fraction thereof during the five days' test. Only letters specially addresed "via air mail" would be accepted, he said.

Everything was in readiness Monday night for the hop-off from New York.

Pilot C. Eugene Johnson, who takes the air from Hazelhurst Field on Long Island, was impatient for the morrow.

Machine In Readiness.

Gas, oil and water for the leg from New York to Cleveland had been taken aboard and the machine was under heavy guard in her hangar.

This morning 24,000 "special-delivery" letters carrying complimentary stamps and weighing 575 pounds were rushed by mail truck from the New York Postoffice and stowed aboard. Then a few first-edition afternoon papers were taken on, and at 11 A. M. the takeoff was made.

DEBATE FEATURES MEETING

A debate featured Sunday evening's meeting of the Arendtsville Lutheran Christian Endeavor. The question debated was: Resolved, that we must be Christians in order to succeed in life. The affirmative, led by Luther Lady, brought forward the value of the Christian in business, in the school and in the home. The negative, of which Robert Hoffman was leader, set forth the weaknesses of the Christians and pointed to instances where success has been gained apparently by leaving Christianity out of the effort. The debate was summed up by Franklyn Rudisill, of Gettysburg, who pointed out that true success can come only when "we serve Christ."

Terms were made known and the sale conducted by Howard G. Blocher, Esq., attorney-in-fact for the widow and heirs.

The property is at present occupied by Charles Frock and family and the new owner will take possession April 1, 1924, when he will retire from farming and move to Littlestown.

STOLEN BABY IS THOUGHT DEAD

Had Been Kept Alive Only By Special Feeding; Taken Saturday.

New York, Aug 21.—An empty baby carriage stood all day at the spot in West Eighteenth street where 3-months-old Lillian McKenzie was abducted Saturday. It was placed there by Peter McKenzie in the hope that the abductor would relent and return to it its precious burden.

Monday night McKenzie trundled it slowly home, still empty, to his wife, who had kept up her courage through the day by washing baby Lillian's clothes and telling herself over and over again that Lillian soon would be back. She recalled hopefully that an uncle abducted from almost the same place many years ago had been returned safely.

But Lillian still is missing, and the 100 detectives who devoted the entire day to a search for her have begun to fear she is dead. She was a delicate infant, in whom the spark of life had been kept only by careful administration of a complicated food formula.

Although the formula has been published broadcast in hope that the abductor would see it and take heed, this hope was slight, for the abductor, the police believe, is a demented woman who stole Lillian to satisfy the mother-craving of her aberrated mind.

Aiding the 100 detectives, especially detailed to the search for Lillian, are all of the 12,000 police of the city, to whom has been given a meager description of a woman suspect and of the baby.

More than 100 persons telephoned the police Monday with information they thought might be of value in the search, police ran down every clue, but Monday night were unable to offer any hope to the distracted parents.

Besides the detectives, thousands of patrolmen, every taxicab and truck driver in greater New York and scores of plain citizens were joining in the hunt for the sickly child, and the search had extended to every city and village within 1000 miles of New York, through radio broadcast of a description of the infant and a woman suspected of abducting her.

The baby disappeared from her perambulator in front of a downtown shop Saturday when her mother, Mrs. Ella McKenzie, was shopping.

Peter McKenzie, the father, has turned to the church for comfort. He went to St. Veronica's in Christopher street, and burned candles before the shrine of St. Anthony while he prayed to the saint for the safe return of his infant daughter.

FLAYS MAIL BOXES

Post Office Dopartment Requests That They Be Kept Painted.

The postoffice department is calling the special attention of postmasters at offices where rural delivery routes are in operation to the need for improving the appearance of mail boxes on these routes. Boxes at the present time, as a rule, present a very unsatisfactory appearance, the department claims, due to the fact that the galvanized or aluminum finish has worn off on account of exposure to the elements to such an extent that the base metal has been exposed and in many cases has rusted.

It is the purpose of the department to improve the general appearance of rural mail boxes throughout the country, so that they may be a credit not only to the postal service but to the community through which the rural delivery route operates. The department desires that the boxes be painted white with the name of the head of the family or families receiving mail in the box painted on both sides of the box in neat black letters 1 inch in height; also that the painting be done at least once each year. It is requested also that the posts or supports to which the boxes are attached be painted white. This will improve not only the appearance of the boxes, but will add materially to the life of the boxes and posts.

Postmasters at the time of making the semi-annual inspection of rural delivery routes at their office have been instructed to take particular note of all rural mail boxes, which do not appear to have been painted within the past one or two years, if old boxes —or within the past five or six years, if new galvanized boxes and to politely request the owner in writing to paint the box and post and to paint or stencil his name on the side of the box.

EXPECT O. K. ON MEXICO SOON

U. S. Commissioners Lay Agreement Before Secretary Hughes.

REPORT TO PRESIDENT

Formal Action is to be Delayed, However, Until After Agreement is Thoroughly Studied, is Report.

Washington, Aug. 21.—A plan designed as the groundwork of a new structure of friendship and amity between the United States and Mexico was laid formally before the American Government Monday upon the return to Washington of the two commissioners appointed by President Harding to negotiate a rapprochement with the Government of General Obregon.

Details of the plan as worked out by Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne with their Mexican colleagues on the International Commission will not be revealed for the present, nor will responsible officials make any prediction as to the future course of the Washington Administration until there has been a careful study of the entire project. Nevertheless, the steps already taken have aroused in official circles an apparent feeling of confidence that the long-continued breach between the two republics of the North American continent may be closed at last.

Report Laid Before Hughes

Mr. Warren and Mr. Payne called on Secretary Hughes immediately after their arrival from Mexico City, and left on his desk their report of the negotiations and of the agreement reached between the American and Mexican commissioners for settlement of the many international claims which have accumulated since relations between the two capitals were broken.

The two commissioners were presented later by Mr. Hughes to President Coolidge. They will remain in Washington for the present to confer at the State Department and the White House over details of the Mexico City agreement and to give their advice as to the acceptance of the settlement plan by the United States.

It is the general expectation that this study of the report will require at least two weeks. The President, as well as Secretary Hughes and other officials of the State Department, is expected to examine the plan suggested with greatest care before there is any announcement as to whether it provides, in the opinion of Washington, a real basis for enduring friendship between the two countries.

Commissioners Had Free Hand

During their discussions the commissioners followed general principles laid down before they left Washington, but in the main they were given a free hand in the arrangement of details, with the understanding that final decisions must be made later by the Washington Government itself.

"The two groups of commissioners," said Mr. Warren today, "have agreed on a basis that has been found agreeable to the Mexican Government. We hope, of course, that it will be acceptable to our own."

Two claims conventions are proposed in the plan to provide machinery for settling finally and on an impartial basis all the questions remaining open on the resumption of full relations. One would deal with claims growing out of the revolution and the other with mixed claims. It is assumed that, should all other features of the rapprochement plan be found acceptable and an Ambassador named to the long-vacant post at Mexico City, the two conventions could be concluded and brought into effect without difficulty or delay.

300 VISIT CEMETERIES

Nearly 300 members of the American Association of Cemetery Superintendents, who are in convention in Harrisburg from August 20 to 23 inclusive, made Gettysburg one of the points of interest in a side trip taken by them this morning. Several of those who came here are members of the Canadian Association and are guests of the convention.

The party was met outside of the borough limits by Henry M. Scharf, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who escorted 80 automobiles through the town and to the major points of interest on the battlefield. Leander H. Martin acted as guide on the trip. Two motorcycle officers of the State Police force accompanied the group here. They left before noon, intending to take lunch at Caledonia. Much interest was evidenced by the superintendents in the manner in which both the National and Citizens' Cemeteries here are kept up.

while, in Washington county, considerable demand exists for miners. Car building and railway equipment plants are running full, and taking on additional labor.

"Harrisburg industrial district—Scarcity of workers obtains in many lines. Practically all mills and shops are operating as near normal as labor supply will permit. Steel mill hands, pattern and templet makers, machinists, blacksmiths, millwrights and foundry workers are in demand. Supply of female workers inadequate. Building continues brisk. Housing conditions improving.

Conditions in Philadelphia

"Philadelphia industrial district, including Chester, Bristol, Traynor and Eddystone: A seasonal lull of industrial activity in several industries has considerably eased the labor situation in this district. Common labor supply and demand more evenly balanced. Building and construction activities continue unchecked. Building mechanics, particularly bricklayers and plasterers, plumbers and electricians, are in great demand.

"Steel mills and plants are operating near normal, providing ample employment for all available workers in this line. The suspension of operations of three sheet mills at Conshohocken has affected nearly 100 men, who have been placed in other departments of same concern. Metal and machine trades are demanding machinists and machine operators. Shortage of automobile mechanics observed in garages and repair shops. Foundries are in need of molders and coremakers.

"Railroad repair shops are exceptionally busy and absorbing many skilled and semiskilled workmen. Shortage of track labor has eased up considerably, with supply and demand equal.

"Carpet and knitting mills are taking on experienced workers. Experienced female operators and textile workers, such as winders and weavers, are in demand. Scarcity of hotel, hospital and restaurant help exists. Tobacco manufacturers increasing activity, several plants working full time, while others are operating at approximately 80 per cent capacity.

"Wood-working plants and furniture manufacturers are seeking skilled workers. Car-building plants are in need of carpenters, millwrights and hand polishers. Unemployment is mostly confined to clerical workers.

Other Pennsylvania Cities

"Scranton—Industrial activities and employment conditions for month of July remain unchanged. Outdoor activities have drained the common labor supply. Unskilled workers are in great demand. Building operations are going ahead at a rapid pace. Coal mines are operating full time.

"Reading—Practically all industries are busy and labor fully employed. A slight let-up in operations in the iron and steel industry and certain textile trades is noted during last month. Hosiery mills are running at capacity with full quota of labor. More workers have found employment in the cigar, shoe and clothing plants.

"Altoona industrial district—Satisfactory employment conditions prevail throughout this district. Major industries are running full time.

COUNTY CLAIMS FRUIT HONORS

of peaches this year is 114,780 bushels, adding it to Adams and Franklin counties as the only ones in Pennsylvania whose estimated yield will be over 100,000 bushels this year. In peach yield, York county is fourth with an estimated crop this year of 98,750 bushels. The total estimated crop of peaches in the State this fall is 1,702,920 bushels.

The peach crop is estimated at 82 per cent of normal. The yield last year was estimated at 1,229,670 bushels and the average for the last four years 1,013,350 bushels.

The condition of pears is placed at 68 per cent of normal, which points to a yield of 572,215 bushels. The crop last year was estimated at 604,600 bushels and the average for the last four years 457,575 bushels.

BANNERS ARE AWARDED

ment stands will also be erected along this "barkers' alley."

The Rosensteel dancing pavilion and the basement of the property has been leased for the occasion by the committee. In the basement meals will be served. Seventy-five chickens will be purchased for soup, and 100 pounds of beef will be used to make hot beef sandwiches, the committee has decided. Ham sandwiches, "hot dogs", coffee, cakes and ice cream will also be on sale.

The midway and the surrounding territory will be brilliantly lighted by electricity during the evening so that the fair can be continued into the night.

Ample provision has been made for parking space for automobiles on private land, since no parking is allowed either on the public roads or government avenues near the "fair grounds."

Committees to handle the many details in connection with the annual meeting of the Adams County Firemen's Association will be announced within a few days. Representatives from every fire company in the county belonging to the county organization will be included on the various committees.

Agents Make 30 Raids

HAGERSTOWN—In one of the most spectacular raids ever staged in Maryland, Prohibition Agents and local officers seized hundreds of gallons of whiskey, wine and beer and arrested seventeen men and women on charges of violating the Prohibition laws Saturday afternoon. The raid was the result of an investigation of several weeks and was engineered by State's Attorney D. Angle Wolfinger and Prohibition Agents. The agents have been in this city at various times during the last month and have made the office of the State's Attorney their headquarters. On Saturday morning the agents, numbering sixteen, came into Hagerstown from Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D. C. They went to the City Park where they were joined by local policemen, Detective Thurston and Western Maryland officers. The party was divided into squads and armed with search warrants hurried to more than 30 business houses and private homes in the city.

Thieves Break in And Steal

HAGERSTOWN—Clever housebreakers operating in Hagerstown over the week-end forced entrances to two places and secured jewelry, goods and money valued at hundreds of dollars. They vanished without leaving the slightest clue which might lead to their identity. Breaking into the home of William U. Roulette, 448 North Potomac street, the thieves made a rich haul. Among other things they secured a cameo pin, a gold bracelet, set with sapphire coral reef and pearls, a gold pin set with three clover leaf pearls, a gold ring, a gold watch, a walrus tooth, a brooch, earrings and much other valuable jewelry. They also secured several dollars in cash. The robbery was staged while members of Mr. Roulette's family were away. They gain-entrance through a rear door. The thieves apparently watched to see that the house was deserted and worked so rapidly that they were not seen by neighbors.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College.

Handling Apples in Crates—Bushel crates are handy for harvesting and storing the apple crop. They can be filled in the orchard directly from the picking bag and hauled to the packing table or the storage. This enables the fruit to be taken care of with the least handling and consequent bruising. If you do not have all the crates you can use this season, it will be well to lay in a supply before the season commences.

Cool Water For The Flock—Many good poultrymen who do not have running water in their poultry houses and yards change the water at least two or three times each day at this time of the year. This gives the birds access to good, clean, fresh water. It is claimed by many that this is a very profitable practice as it keeps the young birds thriving and holds up egg production with the layers.

Don't Delay Treating Wheat—Delay in treating the wheat in the bin means that you are courting a heavy loss from the angoumois moth. Now is a critical period and treatment with carbon bisulphide is the best insurance against loss.

At Calving Time—Feed cows sparingly the first few days after calving; warm water and a few quarts of scalded bran or oats and good hay is sufficient for the first day or two. Gradually work the cow onto full feed, which ordinarily requires 2 to 3 weeks. Do not milk cows completely dry for 48 hours after calving.

Filling The Silo—Corn for silage must be cut fine and tramped well in the silo to make the best quality of feed and fill the silo to its greatest capacity. The usual length of cutting varies from one-fourth of an inch to one inch.

In Tennessee, a rooster hatched out some eggs. This is carrying women's rights too far.

REBERT FARMS SOLD

Nearly $18,000 Realized on Two Tracts Near Littlestown.

The public sale of the two small farms of Alexander H. Rebert, of near Littlestown, along the Hanover-Littlestown pike by the Assignees, Curtis C. Rebert and Elmer D. Buckey, recently drew a tremendous crowd of people and about 60 or more automobiles. Bidding was spirited especially for tract No. 2, consisting of 19 acres of land, a two story brick house, bank barn and other outbuildings, all in good condition. The house is equipped with electric light, water system, telephone and a steam heating plant. It is about a mile from Littlestown. The purchaser was Mrs. Alexander R. Rebert and the price $12,000.

Tract No. 3, consisting of six acres of land about ½ mile from Littlestown, improved with brick house, etc., electric lights and water system, was sold to J. H. Kelley, M. N. Wehler and William E. Eline, for $5,987.50. What disposition they will make of it has not been announced, but it is generally felt the ground, which has quite a frontage along the Littlesown pike, will be sub-divided and sold into building lots. This property was occupied by the assignee, Mr. Rebert. It is the intention of Mr. Rebert to remove to the property bought by Mrs. Rebert, now occupied by the son, Harry Rebert, and family E. R. Thompson, of Gettysburg, was the auctioneer. The farm of Mr. Rebert near Square Corner, Adams County, consisting of 187 acres will be offered at public sale next Saturday at 1 o'clock on the premises.

The BROWN MOUSE by Herbert Quick

COPYRIGHT BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY

WHEN Herbert Quick writes a story it is the time for everyone to sit up and take notice; for he is one of the most versatile and entertaining geniuses in this country. Farmer, schoolmaster, lawyer, editor, public servant, social worker and novelist, he has had a great round of experiences and has worked many of them into his stories. Born in Grundy county, Iowa, he has been mayor of Sioux City, nominee for supreme judge, editor of Farm and Fireside, member of the Federal Farm Loan bureau and several other national commissions, and during the war, had the rank of colonel conferred upon him by the Red Cross.

In "The Brown Mouse," Mr. Quick has taken his inspiration from the Scotch scientist who crossed Japanese waltzing mice with the common white breed and among other hybrids got a brown individual that was different from anything else in the world. Unlike its domesticated parents, it was wild; it ran away, bit, gnawed, scratched and raised hob generally.

Jim Irwin, the hero of the tale, is a brown mouse. His peddling father was a waltzing mouse, no good except to jump from one spot to another for no valid reason. His mother was a white mouse, having had all her color washed out in one way or another. Like the brown mouse which refuses to act according to the rules of heredity, Jim had ideas of his own and did many surprising things. He completely woke up a sleepy farming community and showed it what a touch of genius can do.

IMPROVEMENTS AND COSTS

Improvements costs in all progressive communities are looked upon generally as gilt-edged investments.

Sidewalks must be built. Municipal buildings must go up. Sewers and adequate disposal plants, roadways, parks and municipal playgrounds to keep citizens physically fit are as necessary and as vital as the purchase of food is to the individual.

There are, however, a few in every community who attempt to belittle each improvement as it comes up for public approval. They lament the cost, overlooking the returns in increased business for the merchants, increased employment and increased pay for the workers and general prosperity all around.

There is but one known way to keep taxes low, declares a contemporary, and that is stop all improvements. Quit building new streets, quit paving, stop sidewalk and sewer construction, discontinue building school and bridge structures, leave off getting a better protection against fire, or any of the numerous things necessary to round out things making for a better community and municipality—stop these things and there will be no increase in tax payments from time to time. But if that be done, neither will there be an increase in property values; and when there is no increase in property values, that means there is no growth.

Men and money are attracted to cities that are growing. Few individuals casting about for a new place to live will choose a city that already is built. The chances for reward on investment in a city that is building are too great to stop in a city where a transfer of property rights in a dwelling may become a chief interest and excitement.

The more we build the more it costs, and the man who looks the situation squarely in the face and complains either is mistaken in his facts or unreasonable in his attitude.

OUR COUNTRY

Our country has it for you, whatever joy you love—
The great wide sea before you, the great blue sky above,
And would you choose the mountains, the rugged peaks and tall,
Where race the streaming fountains, our country has them all.

Our country holds your pleasure, what-e'er that pleasure be,
Within her bounteous measure the world's rich charms you'll see;
Southward the palms are swaying, inland her white lakes shine,
What ground choose you for playing? 'Tis here, by God's design.

Would you hear forests singing the anthems of the trees,
Or see the wild ducks winging across the lake in V's?
Or would the partridge whirring, or would a moose's call
Set drowsy pulses stirring? Our country has them all.

With all she gives of splendor, 'tis little that she asks:
From tyranny defend her, be faithful to your tasks.
Whatever joy you cherish, 'tis here where men are free—
Then let not freedom perish, but live for liberty.

Married 25 Years

WAYNESBORO.—A surprise in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding was tendered the Rev. and Mrs. James M. Moore at their home, 113 South Church street, by members of the Church of the Brethren Sunday school. Nearly two hundred members of the school gathered at the Moore home. Mr. and Mrs. Moore were away from home for the day Friday and upon their return at about 8 o'clock found their friends awaiting them, the house decorated in flowers and Japanese lanterns and everything arranged for an enjoyable evening. A H. Ressler made a short address on behalf of the guests to which both Rev. Moore and his wife responded. Twenty-five new silver dollars were presented to the pastor by his guests while Mrs. Moore received a dress and a purse of money.

The election is held to raise money for the committee, which has done big things to help France. Votes sell for 10 cents each and the winners are determined by the number of votes they get.

Frederick

Workers Get Service Buttons

FREDERICK.—Telephone employes in Frederick and in all parts of Maryland, are proudly wearing gold service emblems, awarded by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company as significant of their years of service in the Bell family. More than 100 designs for emblems were submitted by employes and from them 12 were selected as the best. An expert designer picked the best qualities of these 12 and designed a button which has in the center an eagle, the official emblem of the United States. The eagle is holding the Bell which all over the country represents Bell system, and it is standing upon the cross-arm of a toll line—a representation of nationwide service. The name of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company appears on the circular edge of the buttom. Every man and woman in the company with five or more years of service received one. The general design is the same for all but they have distinctive marks denoting years of service. A button having one star at the bottom denotes from five to nine years; two stars, from 10 to 14 years, three stars, 15 to 19 years, and four stars, 20 to 24 years.

May Build Fire Tower

FREDERICK.—Routine business was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Aldermen Wednesday night. Considerable time, however, was taken up discussing street improvement and repair. A representative of the State Forestry Department appeared before the board and spoke in the interest of forest preservation. He pointed out that as the city owned about 1,500 acres of mountain land it should bear the expense of erecting a steel lookout tower and telephone service on its property. After the tower has been built and the telephone installed, which will cost about $1,000, the state will maintain it. The object of the tower is to afford a lookout for forest fires. Several towers erected and maintained by the state are located in different sections of the mountain and have proved useful in reporting fires. The representative pointed out the benefit of reporting fires early in order that a force of men may be dispatched to the scene to keep the blaze from spreading. No action was taken.

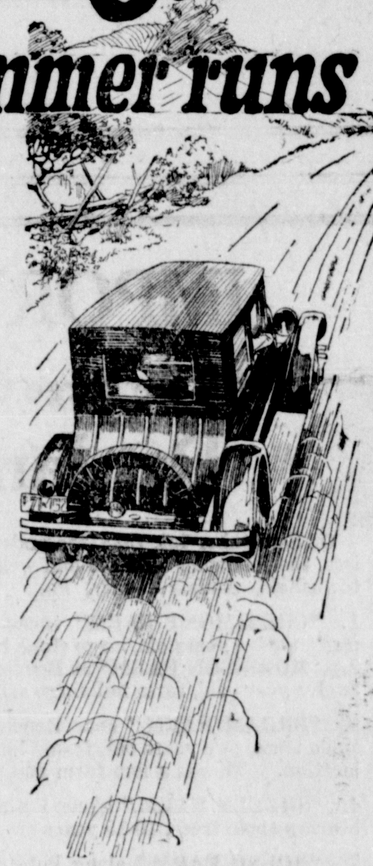
The Motor oil for summer runs



THINK of the incessant punishment your motor oil takes on a two-hundred-mile tour, as compared with its easy task over the average twenty or thirty miles you drive daily about town!

Atlantic engineers offer you complete motor protection in the longer-lasting, higher-heat-resisting oil they've recently perfected. Atlantic will not break down under long-continued exposure to the terrific heat of the motor. It means better sheathing of cylinder walls; better separation of bearing surfaces; better sealing of pistons—a smoother-running, better-powered, longer-lasting repairless motor.

Are not these things worth asking definitely for Atlantic Motor Oil? Easy to buy—thousands of dealers sell it.

Atlantic dealers have the official Atlantic guide as to the correct type of oil for your motor—Atlantic Medium, Atlantic Heavy, Atlantic Special Heavy, or Atlantic Polarine.
